This weeks Puzzle Piece is by Dr Pat Garret and is about a program that will be a practice-builder for any clinic and a wonderful tool for putting the pieces together:

I can't tell you how many times I have heard Dr. John praise the work of Paul Zane Pilser. In 2002, this economist and author shed light on the Wellness Revolution and how it is going to change the way we practice healthcare. The emerging trillion dollar industry called "Wellness" has since swept through healthcare like a tornado. This change from doctor-driven "sick care" to patient-driven "wellness care" is largely due to the advancement of the internet. Patients are now able to research their symptoms and condition-related information before they even call a doctor. Patients today are far more educated on what they want, and doctors must be well educated or they will be abandoned by their patients. "Wellness" is a great buzz word; however, if you are not armed with easy-to-access information, it becomes difficult to keep up. Patients are driving farther and paying more for wellness care than ever before. Nutri-West nutrition and Brimhall-practicing doctors have come into demand and are being sought out by patients all over the world.

For this reason, we created The eWellness System. Doctors have found that they can either spend their time researching information or they could spend that time seeing more patients.

We created the eWellness System to assist doctors in being able to use their time seeing more patients and being able to present them with 'hard copy,' evidence-based information. The key to this remarkable software is information automation. By taking mountains of nutritional information, health concerns, drug nutrient interactions, wellness information, age & gender specific lab values and then adding the eWellness Questionnaire Report, the doctor and/or staff members can simply access the information on-demand.

The eWellness System is supported by doctors with scientific and practical expertise. Dr. Lynn Toohey, PhD is an iconic figure in regards to nutrition and supplements. She has worked very closely with Nutri-West in research and development and has also been a foundation of information on health and wellness for doctors around the world. However, with the sheer volume of information that Dr. Toohey and our team put together, we needed a successful way to automate the information. In an effort to conquer this technological Everest, we turned to a high-end consultant with a huge firm in Washington, DC, Donald Sowell. This innovative eWellness System software has been developed to put practitioners on top of the game with the ability to produce hard evidence based science to their patients with ease in delivery.

The eWellness System has one of the largest wellness informational databases in the world and is a true asset in any office. The success of The eWellness System is not just an American phenomenon; it is used in countries as far away as Hong Kong, England, Peru, and the West Indies. Because of our attention to ethics, research and customer service, we have been blessed to have major healthcare companies aligning with us. The eWellness System is now exclusively supported by Brimhall Wellness Seminars and Nutri-West. We are also working very closely with companies like Doctor's Choice, Professional Coop, Labrix Labs, Quest Diagnostics, Lab Corp and the Chiropractic Internist, ProHealth Seminars. In fact, this software is scheduled to be featured at over 65 seminars in 2008.

Doctors and patients are looking for services and information that allow them to give improved quality care with better outcomes. Patients are hungry for information, especially 'hard copy' information. The eWellness System supplies colorful reports that help patients understand the justification for why they need visits/supplements, which is a great solution to this growing demand.

The Nutri-West/Brimhall Homecoming seminar is just around the corner on January 25-27, 2008 and Dr. John Brimhall is having us present The eWellness System to you. There will also be time for you to check out the system during the breakout sessions! We will be demonstrating the power of the program and showing lots of examples on how to fully utilize it. We will be running a special Homecoming 2008 discount that will be significantly reduced for all attendees (even if you already use The eWellness System).

If you have a laptop computer, we encourage you to please bring it to the breakout sessions, as well as any old labs. We will be there to train you and your staff to make Monday morning implementation EASY. You will have time to do some sample online questionnaires, online labs, and online nutrient / health reports.
